dear vasif,

thanks for the message.

it might be possible for me to visit istanbul during that period, however my "tele[visions]" exhibition at the kunsthalle vienna will open in early october, so i'm not certain when installation begins. {as for a magazine, i've really cut down on that writing activity, so it might be more appropriate to visit for curatorial research.}

you should be receiving information on the "tele[visions]" show from the kunsthalle within the next few weeks, and then we should communicate again about a possible tour cooperation for your museum. the new kunsthalle space is about 12,000 square feet, so perhaps the scale of my show would be appropriate for your space.

i'm in vienna at the end of this month for a week, and i'll be back in touch.

all best,
joshua
