

Galata:Genoa

The project by Gülsün Karamustafa for Alberto Peola Gallery is based on fictional voyages which bring together the city of Genoa and Galata, a small district in Istanbul, which has been a Genoan Colony between the 13th and 15th Century where a colossal building called the "Galata Tower" or the "Genoan Tower" still gives the utmost spirit to its surroundings.

Stories which date back into history is the central theme of the project as well as the actual daily life events.

Also visuals that bring together the similarities of the two spaces mingle together building up the complex structure of the work.
